

Project Manager Position Available - Apply by October 3, 2014

Starting Salary $130,000 - $160,000 DOQ

Located in Norwalk, CT, the Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB) is the independent organization that establishes and improves standards of accounting and financial reporting for U.S. state and local governments. Established in 1984 by agreement of the Financial Accounting Foundation (FAF) and 10 national associations of state and local government officials, the GASB is recognized by governments, the accounting industry, and the capital markets as the official source of generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) for state and local governments. The GASB is not a government entity; instead, it is an operating component of the FAF, a private sector not-for-profit entity.

GASB

Members of the GASB are appointed by the Trustees of the FAF for a 5-year term and may serve up to 10 years. The current chairman was appointed for a single seven-year term, serves full time, and the six other members serve on a part-time basis. The members of the GASB are required to be knowledgeable about governmental accounting and finance and have a concern for the public interest in matters of accounting and financial reporting. The Board has a professional staff drawn from government, public accounting, and the user community. The staff works directly with the Board and its task forces, conducts research, participates in public hearings, analyzes oral and written comments received from the public on documents, and prepares drafts of documents for consideration by the Board.

Currently, the GASB employs 25 staff members of which 21 are classified as technical. This position reports to the Director of Research and Technical Activities. The Project Manager will manage GASB technical projects from inception to issuance of authoritative literature (for example, Statements of Governmental Accounting Standards or Concepts).

The Ideal Candidate

GASB is seeking a bright, proactive, dynamic, and thoughtful financial professional who has “a passion for accounting.” The ideal candidate will have a public accounting or government background. The ideal candidate will have some experience in preparing or auditing state, local, or special purpose government financial statements.

The individual must be willing to maintain a broad knowledge of governmental accounting, demonstrating a desire for ongoing professional development. The organization is looking for a future leader who wants to learn and grow. He/she must be an outstanding communicator, both orally and in writing. Well-developed presentation skills are a must. The candidate must have the ability to participate and at times to lead discussions at Board meetings, educational sessions, and various meetings with GASB constituent groups. He/she must have the ability to convey complex issues clearly and concisely.

The individual will have a positive work history in project planning; research, development, and implementation; and direct oversight of a project work team. The candidate will need to be impartial, perform objective analysis, keep an open mind, and be able to identify possible solutions that are technically and conceptually sound. The ideal candidate will have an inner confidence and not be shaken easily. He/she should expect to be challenged.

The position requires strong listening skills and a genuine willingness to exchange ideas in a stimulating environment, including supporting and respecting the ideas and opinions of others. GASB is a small, close knit organization and, consequently, it is important to be able to develop a collegial relationship with the current staff. The ideal candidate, while being strong, will know how to work well with others and consider their input. Excellent interpersonal skills will be critical as well as the ability to successfully manage and motivate project technical staff individually and as a team. The Project Manager could be managing more than one project team at a time, so the ability to multi-task is important.

Training, Education, and Experience

The ideal candidate will have:

- A bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university. A master's degree is preferred.
- A Certified Public Accountant (CPA) license.
- A minimum of 9 years of technical accounting experience, preferably in public accounting or state or local governmental accounting.

Compensation & Benefits

$130,000-$160,000, depending on experience, with comprehensive benefits and relocation package.
